Candles

Behold the humble candle

Understanding what price is doing inside a candle is key.
There is a lot of detail within a single candle that we can easily ignore and forget.

We don't need to know the names of the candles,
How does knowing what a Doji candle benefit you if you dont actually know why its a doji? Where is the Logic there?
There is none

The Journey

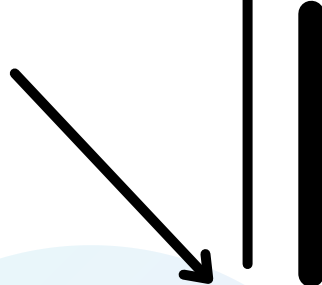

Creates the High of the candle

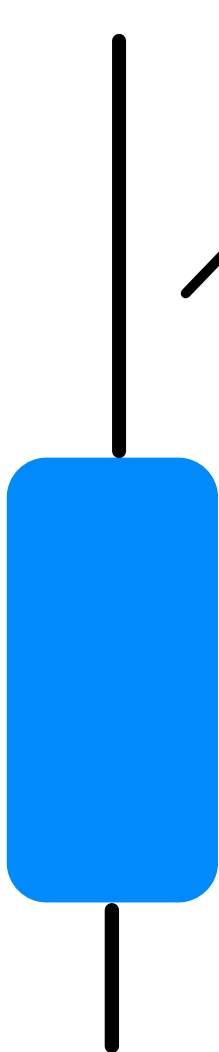

Candle closes

Price starts here at the open

Creates the low of the candle

Bullish candle

Huge wick!

What does it mean?

This is the first sign of sellers entering the market.

Why and how?

Look at the volume on this bullish candle. Now for a bullish candle this is not normal volume with a wick this big. Follow the Journey of price within the candle.

Where is price struggling to go?

Higher right?

Buyers are exhausted here.

So this means Sellers are taking over here.

How is this beneficial to us?

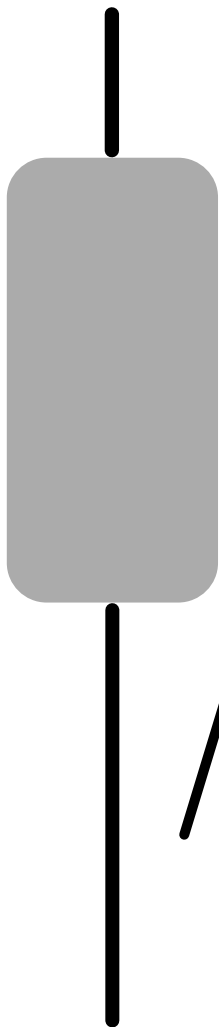

What do we look for?

We look to see where the shift in structure originated from right. Well this wick is the first indication of that.

Now do you see the logic behind it?

What also does this show then?

Lower time frame Breaks of structure which causes the shift = Order block within here.

Bearish candle

Huge wick!

What does it mean?

This is the first sign of buyers entering the market.

Why and how?

Look at the volume on this bearish candle. Now for a bearish candle this is not normal volume with a wick this big. Follow the Journey of price within the candle.

Where is price struggling to go?

lower right?

sellers are exhausted here.

So this means buyers are taking over here.

How is this beneficial to us?

What do we look for?

Overall,
Understand price in a candle,
When you see big wicks, question WTF is going in that candle??

Test it, look a huge 4 hour or daily wick, then look at the minute structure within that wick.

Learn to make sense of every detail and utilise this knowledge to the maximum.

Happy trading
