I asked 240,000 traders what their biggest trading mistake is.

Here are the 7 most common replies:

1. Trading without an edge

Create the best trading weapon:

- Focus 100% on trading 1 setup
- You don't need to catch every market movement to win
- Remember that patience is KEY

Be the best in the world on trading 1 system.

2. “Get rich quick” mindset

Change your mindset

- Aim for consistency, not perfection
- Think long term, not short term
- Take calculated risks, not stupid risks
- Focus on 1 system, not 27

If you want to be the top 1%, stop thinking like the 99%.

3. Overtrading

- Overtrading is just risking more because you won before and you think "nothing can stop me"
- If you win big until Thursday, but you lose everything on Friday you won't be successful

Control your risk. Control your emotions. Control your success.

4. Trading without a stop loss

- Most traders focus 100% on money, take big risks, blow big accounts
- Focus on risk per trade, WR and RRR to improve your execution
- Money is just the tool to get more money

Trade like a casino, not a gambler.

5. Fear of losing

Fear is the #1 trading killer when you are not in control:

- Know your system more
- Plan your trades better
- Review your trades more

Fear is just an illusion.

6. Predicting the future

- The best trader in the world can lose the next trade
- The worst trader in the world can win the next trade
- It's not about 1 trade, but 1,000 trades

Real trading starts when you realize it's not predicting the future, but thinking in probabilities.

7. Not believing in yourself

Trading is the most competitive business in the world.

It involves self-doubt, pain, emotional fights, early days, late nights, impatience, failures.

You won't succeed in 1 or 30 days.

If it were easy, everyone would do it.
